

The Graduate School of Modern Society and Culture works in partnership with the Niigata University Career and Employment Support Office to offer career assistance. We regularly organize seminars for graduate students, featuring career consultants and other experts, to aid in their job search efforts. These seminars provide a range of support, including guidance on job search strategies, help with application materials, mock interview sessions, and a space to discuss any employment or career-related concerns. For further details, please check out the Niigata University Career and Employment Support Office's website.

*Access to information about job hunting support events requires a current student account.